SEARCH TERMS: lost passport what to do abroad, passeport perdu que faire voyage, جواز سفر ضائع ماذا أفعل, what happens if I lose passport in another country, lost passport emergency steps, how to get emergency travel document, perte passeport voyage que faire ambassade

If you lose your passport while traveling:

1. Report immediately: Go to the nearest police station to file a report. This document is required by your embassy and for insurance claims.
2. Contact your embassy/consulate: They will guide you on obtaining an Emergency Travel Document (ETD) or temporary passport. Processing can take 24–72 hours.
3. Provide proof: Bring a copy of your passport (digital or physical), ID, travel itinerary, and police report.
4. Check local requirements: Some countries (e.g., UAE, China) require additional paperwork or translations.
5. Inform your airline: If flying soon, ask if they accept an ETD for your destination.

Pro Tip: Always carry 2 passport-sized photos and a copy of your passport's data page separately from the original.

RISK: Travel delay, identity theft, inability to fly, potential fines in some countries

SEARCH TERMS: lost luggage airport what to do, airline baggage lost, valise perdue aeroport que faire, ضياع الحقائب في المطار ماذا أفعل, airline lost my bag compensation, how to track lost luggage, baggage delayed what to do, compensation for lost luggage EU

If your luggage is lost or delayed:

1. Report at the airport: Go to your airline's baggage service desk before leaving the airport. Provide your baggage receipt and flight details.
2. File a PIR (Property Irregularity Report): This is your proof for tracking and compensation claims.
3. Track your bag: Use the airline's tracking tool (e.g., WorldTracer for most airlines).
4. Know your rights:
 - EU: Up to €1,300 compensation for lost luggage under EU Regulation 261/2004.
 - USA: Up to $3,800 for domestic flights (DOT rules).
 - Global: Montreal Convention covers international flights (up to ~$1,700).
5. Essentials kit: Ask the airline for a toiletries kit if your bag is delayed overnight.
6. Keep receipts: If you buy essentials, save receipts for reimbursement.

Pro Tip: Use AirTags or similar trackers in your luggage for real-time location updates.

RISK: Loss of personal items, travel disruption, unexpected expenses
